The 8th Annual Scientific Conference:

Psychosocial effects of the Syrian Crises Mental Health of the Syrian Family

Date : 28 – 29 March 2020

@ Huda International Schools

Bashakshahir - Istanbul - Turkey

In order to highlight the psychosocial effects of the Syrian crisis, the 8th Scientific Conference will be held in Istanbul from 28 to 29 March 2020, entitled "Mental Health of the Syrian Family".

We invite experts in the fields of psychiatry, psychology, social service, and other professionals to this conference ... giving them the opportunity to develop the practical and theoretical aspects regarding the latest developments of mental health and to help in building relationships and networking between workers in this field, which in turn gives educational and social scientific wealth.

Conference Topics:

- 1- Psychosocial obstacles facing the integration of the Syrian family in the hosting societies (Arabic countries, Turkey, Europe).
- 2- The positive and negative consequences of forced immigration on all elements of the family (parents, and children):
 - The family and the issue of addiction.
 - The education of Syrian children in the hosting countries, between successes and frailer.
 - The Syrian family and special needs, future challenges.
 - Bullying of children and teenagers.
